CLUB WOMEN PLAN DISTRICT MEETING

Arrangements for Convention to Be Held in Janesville Are Outlined at Board Session.

Arrangements for the annual meeting of the district federation of women's clubs, which is to be held this year in Janesville, were outlined Thursday at a board session at Library Hall. Officers of the district organization who were present yesterday were: Mrs. C. C. Colony, Evansville, president; Mrs. E. A. Nelson, Racine, first vice president; Mrs. T. H. Taylor, Waukegan, second vice president; Mrs. W. P. Leek, Beloit, recording secretary; Mrs. V. A. Astell, Janesville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. W. Walker, Dousman, treasurer; Miss Nellie Gardner, Orlin, auditor.

Other ladies, chairmen of committees, who were also present were Mrs. Humphrey, Whitewater; Mrs. Merrill, Beloit; Mrs. McGinnis, Edgerton; Mrs. A. E. West, Milton; and Mrs. Helms, Janesville.

This federation is composed of forty-two clubs, representing about 1,100 members, and is one of the five working organizations of the state. The meeting in Janesville will be held on April 25-26, on the invitation of the Art League, the Philomathian club, the Summer Club of Home Economics and the Order of Eastern Star Study club, all of which belong to the federation.

At the meeting yesterday Mrs. H. D. Murdoch, who has been made chairman of the committee of arrangements, had the president of the district, Mrs. C. C. Colony, and Mrs. E. A. Nelson, Racine, first vice president; Mrs. T. H. Taylor, Waukegan, second vice president; Mrs. W. P. Leek, Beloit, recording secretary; Mrs. V. A. Astell, Janesville, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. W. Walker, Dousman, treasurer; Miss Nellie Gardner, Orlin, auditor.

MRS. TAYLOR CLAIMS IGNORANCE OF CASE

Former Janesville Woman in Whose Home at Detroit Marjorie Delbridge Was Found, Knows No Details.

Mrs. Enoch Taylor, the former Janesville woman, in whose home at Detroit was found little Marjorie Delbridge, the white foster child of "Mammy" Jackson, of Chicago, claims entire ignorance of the case. The Delbridge child is alleged to have been kidnapped in Chicago and taken to Detroit where she was found later in the Taylor home.

Dispatches from Detroit report that Mrs. Taylor said that a woman who looked like a white person, brought the child to her home. The old woman previously told contradictory stories. She declared that she did not know "Mammy" Jackson, who has begun court action to obtain possession of the child.

"Mammy" Jackson and her negro attorney from Chicago tried to gain permission to see the girl, who is being held in the juvenile detention home, but they were refused. The old woman went to the refusal. She made the trip to Detroit hurriedly, when she learned that the girl was being held there, she said.

"I could have come on an airplane, I've done so," the old woman said, fervently, in the home of Mrs. Enoch Taylor, 191 Garfield avenue, where the child was found and where "Mammy" is staying.

"Mammy" Jackson today indirectly suggested that the "Aunt Helen" who was named by Marjorie as one of the women who kidnapped her from the home of Mrs. Louis Jackson in Chicago, and brought her to Detroit, was the real aunt of the little girl. The old woman explained that Marjorie had two older brothers who had been in the care of an aunt who died before her mother's death. She refused, however, to name the aunt or tell where she lived. Marjorie has already denied she knew "Aunt Helen."

"Mammy" repeated her old story of the child's parentage and said an uncle of Marjorie, "Mr. Davis," had paid her for the care of the child "until he came back for South America, some time ago."

But he said that he would be back in Canada when she was ready to finish public school, and "I'll get my money," the old woman added.

It was learned today that "Mammy" Jackson has a son living in Detroit, but he has not been implicated in the kidnapping.

HELANDER-SHATTUCK WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

Marriage Takes Place on Thursday Evening at Christ Church Rectory—To Reside in Portage.

The wedding of Miss Mabel Helander of this city and Louis A. Shattuck of Portage was quietly solemnized last evening at Christ church rectory, the Reverend John McKinney, reading the service. Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck left this morning on a wedding journey, after which they will be at home in Portage, Wis., where Mr. Shattuck is in business as a druggist. The bride of last evening has been employed as toll supervisor of the local office of the Wisconsin Telephone company and has many warm friends in this city. Mr. Shattuck was formerly employed at the Red Cross Pharmacy.

WORD FROM REVEREND HAZEN AT HOT SPRINGS, ARKANSAS

Janesville friends have received word from the Reverend Joseph C. Hazen, former pastor of the First Baptist church, that he is recuperating at Hot Springs, Ark. He has found the baths most beneficial to his health. His church at Peoria, Ill., voted him a two weeks' vacation or leave of absence which they have since extended for a month longer.

A Beautiful Complexion

May be Obtained by the Use of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, the Greatest of all food Purifiers.

No need for anyone to go about any longer with a face covered with pimples, blemishes, eruptions, blackheads and liver spots. These are all due to impurities in the blood. Cleanse the blood thoroughly and the blemishes will disappear.

That's what Stuart's Calcium Wafers are intended to accomplish and do accomplish. Their principal ingredient is Calcium Sulphide, the quickest and most thorough blood cleanser known.

These wonderful little wafers get right into the blood and destroy impure substances present in it. In some cases a few days are sufficient to make a marked improvement. And when the blood is pure the whole system is a hundred per cent better.

Go to any drug store and get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. Get them today.

Don't trot any longer about those blackheads, pimples, boils, tetter, eczema spots or skin eruptions; they all go and "go quick" if you use Stuart's Calcium Wafers. A small sample package mailed free by sending coupon below.

SALARY ORDINANCE UP TO COMMISSION

Will be Given Consideration This Afternoon—Police Chief May Receive Boost.

Consideration of the salary list for the coming year was scheduled to be taken by the city commission at their meeting this afternoon. The ordinance was presented in blank by City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund a week ago, but because of the press of business it was shelved at that time.

At least one boost was expected to be made, that of the salary of P. D. Chappin, head of the police department.

Early this afternoon the salary ordinance was the only real important matter scheduled to be gone into. There was an accumulation of routine business to be passed upon, however.

Lovejoy's Leaders Leave League Behind—Demonstrate Their Omnipotence in Volley Ball.

Agile yet powerful, quick yet sure, the bulldogs easily routed the weakling Bloodhounds in the second round of the volleyball tournament, in which the business men's class at the Y. M. C. A. is more or less engaging. Before the furious offensive of the victors the Bloodhounds were but the feeble outcries of a lost hope. Against the invincible bulwarks of the mighty Terriers, the Bloodhounds' last night's alleged opposition served only to relieve the monotonous monotony of Lovejoy's unconquerable advance.

Well trained, dashing, adroit, cool, the playing of the winners was the practical realization of an ideal. Under the masterly leadership of Captain Lovejoy the bulldogs are a team to inspire dread in the ranks of even the most vainglorious of opponents.

The particular incident to which the above has reference was the irreconcilable trimming which the terriers handed the Bloodhounds last night when they took three straight games from them.

With but a trifle less of the phenomenal skill the league leaders displayed in their playing, the Bloodhounds, led by none other than George King, himself, lifted themselves from the mire of impending defeat and inspired by the Brobdignagian efforts of their leader demonstrated their ultimate supremacy over Tallman's Terriers by winning two out of three of the games. According to this stirring struggle it is doubtful if the historic battle of the will ever witness another battle of such ferocious splendor as was this tussle of Titans.

The relative potency of the various aggregations is noted below:

Team.
Bulldogs, Capt. Lovejoy..... 5 1
Terriers, Capt. Tallman..... 3 3
Wildcats, Capt. King..... 1 5

patronized if possible. But many towns ruined their roads by favoring home owners in cases where the home supplies were not well adapted to the purpose. It is poor economy to scrimp on materials for highways. Labor is the big cost, and all this may be thrown away if used in working over unsuitable stuff.

Why is the light turned off in the city hall clock at night? Can anyone answer this question? Is everyone supposed to be going to bed when the light goes out? Is it for the purpose of saving electricity, or what? If the bedtime is set by the clock it is mighty late, and if it is economy it is poor economy. Keep the clock lighted as long as it is needed, as long as the street lights burn, and give the stranger within our gates a right opinion of the city.

Just supposing some foreign power sent a few hundred well trained officers into Mexico and a few million rounds of ammunition and new rifles and guns from a submarine while the United States was having complications with some other foreign nation. What would happen? Would John Lind be sent down there again to investigate or what would the government do?

There is to be a justice of the supreme court elected this spring. The office is non-partisan and it is expected that undue influences will not be brought to bear upon the layman by the lawyers to make their selection of who shall pass on the merits of the laws that are on our statutes. Let the people rule.

Now that the dates for the Janesville fair have been set, please remember that the Janesville fair is the third week in August and the Rock county fair the third week in September. Make no mistake and plan to make the two Rock county exhibits the best in southern Wisconsin by your own personal interest.

This is a hard old world when you come right down to it. It means a lot to some individuals and less to others. You can struggle along as best you can, but unless you make a success you are counted as a failure, while the lad born with the gold spoon in his mouth soars ahead and becomes president of this or that concern and you wonder why.

It would appear that the liquor interests in Wisconsin would be big and broad enough to see that the question of state prohibition is bound to come up for vote sooner or later, and the sooner the question is settled the better. It is far more preferable than local option, which does not accomplish anything.

The Wisconsin legislature is whipsawing about that resolution for endorsement of the president as though they never did appreciate that the three small towns in the big puzzle of the federation of states. Wisconsin has been a joke too long at national conventions of both political parties, so why continue the farce in the halls of the legislature?

The man who can invent a substitute for coal or wood and make it a success will be a millionaire within a few months, unless he is a philanthropist and gives it to the public for their use as a means of diverting the H. C. L. from the doors of the average household.

Congress down at Washington is trying to hustle affairs along so as to prevent the coming republican house from taking any of the plums the democrats hope to gather before the time is up for the closing down of their harvest.

The school survey which will enable the citizens of Janesville and the immediate territory whose children attend the public schools here know just what is the matter with the schools and whether radical changes are needed or not to make them the best in the state.

No matter what congress may decide the crisis in the American history of the present century is fast approaching and it does not need a historian to write the chapter of unpreparedness behind the name of the administration that has neglected all precautions.

Fuel, food and future are problems that bother the man on the average wage scale. The war scare and the prospect of higher prices is a nightmare that wakes many a careful householder from a sound sleep with a start.

Perhaps it will need the blowing up of the national capitol at Washington before an overt act is committed. American vessels can be dynamited, blown up, sunk or what not, yet the notes will follow and nothing will result.

The latest report from the paper market is that Uncle Sam has countermanded his order for seventeen tons of note paper with which to continue diplomatic negotiations with Germany.

The manufacturers of paper-soled boots and of embalmed beef are feeling cheerful over the idea that the United States army will soon be in the market for their products.

Uncle Sam need not think he can send another army down to Cuba to bring order out of disorder after the Mexican frontier fiasco.

It is always safe at those republican and progressive harmony dinners to talk about the weather.

Last year's automobile license is perfectly good, until some inquisitive officer asks to see it.

The Daily Novelette

THE DIAMOND PIE PLATE.

Strolling down Izzy Lane, Sheerluck Bones, the great detective shut his eyes in deep thought. "If I could only land the man who stole Mrs. Wilkie's diamond pie plate my fortune would be made. The only clue I have is the fact that the thief wore a fur-lined overcoat!" he soliloquized.

Entering Dooley's French restaurant, he was about to order "corn beef and cabbage a-laking" when his eye struck the back of a man at another table and rebounded. There was nary a fur-lined overcoat in sight, yet the man's coat was full of hair. "Ab-bb! He-ab!" triumphantly exclaimed the great detective. "He's my man. His overcoat is moulted and I'll nail him."

Producing his sapphire-studded handcuffs, he took the man standing in front of Judge Pennem. "I accuse this man of stealing Mrs. Wilkie's diamond pie plate," exclaimed Sheerluck Bones. "See the fine hair all over his coat? He evidently has the fur-lined coat forming the only clue."

With a snickering laugh, the prisoner hissed, "You're wrong! This hair from the Great International Cat Show now being held in Round Square Garden, I'm one of the judges. See my badge?"

The great detective, with his head bowed in conflicting thoughts accompanied with emotions, hurriedly left the courtroom.

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

FRANCIS BUSHMAN. Your many graceful arts and wiles are quite too numerous to list 'em; Your lovely hair and charming smiles appear to thrill the female species.

You heave your quite heroic chest, You sigh a bit in fervid fashion, And in your eye there is expressed A very choice display of passion.

Your many moods, though grave or gay, Though frolicsome or merely frantic Are always, as the women say, So very cultured and Romantic!"

You acting charms the frails, in fact, So do your sighs, your smiles, your hair, I don't believe I've seen you act. What's more, I don't believe I care to!

HAPPY THOUGHT. Nothing depletes like excess.

Beauty Hint. To remove a freckle. Grow a wart beside it. This one never failed but No one ever tried it.

What Was Coming to Him. A very hearty lad was Jasher. Full of animal spirits. He liked to greet people breezily. "Such a hearty chap," his friends would say of him. Jasher always made it a point to be hearty.

Jasher's idea of heartiness was to slap you on the back. When you weren't looking for it. Come up behind you and do it. And bang your hat down over your eyes. He liked that one. Very hearty lad.

Jasher died. Poor old Jasher. Goes to where we used to hope he would show him around. "Where you going to put me?" he asks heartily, slapping Devil on the back. Devil didn't wear a hat.

"Right in here," Devil opens a door. Lots of imps in there. Hands on 'em four by six feet. "Hearty little chaps, but don't pay any attention to 'em," says the Devil. "Just turn your back on them."

Don't You? Some, I admit, can never see The slightest grace or charm in me. Yet others, too, I know who cry, "He's quite a pleasant little guy!"

With some I'm never at my ease, No matter how I try to please. With others I am bright and gay And think of funny things to say.

I do not like to be with those Who all my awkwardness expose; I always much prefer to be With those who see the best in me.

MISS CAROLINE WADLE
MARRIES FRANK MAATZ

On Wednesday, Feb. 14, Miss Caroline Wadle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Wadle of the town of Center, was united in marriage to Frank Maatz, son of Mrs. Maatz of Leyden, at the German Lutheran church in Hanover. The Rev. Snyder performed the ceremony. Miss Anna Wadle was the maid of honor and the groom was attended by his brother, Fred Maatz. Before the ceremony Mrs. Fred Wadle of this city sang "O Promise Me" and "Love following the ceremony. As the bride party entered the church Miss Marion Terwilliger played the Lohengrin wedding march. The bride's gown was white silk and lace with iridescent trimmings. She wore a veil fastened with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid's gown was white net over white silk and half after five a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at which one hundred guests were present. The evening was spent in dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Maatz will spend some time in Chicago and will be at home to their friends after April 1st in this city, where they will make their home.

Basketball Friday and Saturday nights at the rink. Two big games.

TAX COLLECTIONS CLOSE LAST NIGHT

Delinquent List is Small as Big Amount is Paid on Closing Day and Last Evening.

With an influx of checks and a grand rush to get in under the wire at City Treasurer George W. Muenchow's window at the city hall yesterday and last night, the fifteen day time limit for the payment of taxes closed. Due to the fact that the greater portion of each day of this week has been given over to personally presenting accounts the checks received in the mail have not been given much attention. Mr. Muenchow and City Assessor Frank L. Smith, who has been aiding in the collections, this morning started a

SIGNIFICANCE OF MAINTENANCE

Greatest Part of Highway Expense is For Construction.

BUSINESS METHODS NEEDED

There Should Be a Proper System of Road Maintenance, With Its Auxiliary System of Road Accounts and Financial Control—This Would Place Expenditures on a Sound Basis.

The greatest part of the large annual expenditure for roads is for construction, writes E. W. James, chief of maintenance, United States office of public roads, in the New York Evening Post. Another large part is spent in repairing worn out roads. Very little is spent systematically for maintaining in good condition roads already built. The fact that it is usually impossible to separate expenditures for construction, repair and maintenance indicates the indifference of local officials toward road maintenance. What such indifference means should be thoroughly understood.

The idea of building roads with bond money is a good one. The arrangement can often be made to good business advantage, and is a good device for making posterity share in the payment of a certain advantage that we bequeath to it. But as usually practiced the arrangement of issuing bonds serves actually to shift all payment to posterity and to exhaust the proceeds of the sale in our own generation. We are heavily discounting the future in road building, and unless some change is brought about, financial difficulties are sure to come that can be met only by heavy direct taxes that will have to be expended without any direct benefits.

The first step toward remedying this condition is really a very simple one. Every mile of improved road built by a county from any funds whatever should create a determinable annual liability against the annual road revenues of the county. This liability is determined by a competent engineer as the probable annual cost of maintenance of that particular mile of improved road.

Let us assume the case of a county having $10,000 annual road revenue under the maximum levy. The county already has 300 miles of common dirt roads in good condition for $30 per mile, because of the heavy traffic near the market towns. So it plans to issue bonds and to construct gravel roads near the principal market towns or railroad points or centers of population. The question is, How many miles of gravel road should the county build? The engineer advising the county studies the materials available and estimates that roads built with the best local gravel will cost $125 per mile annually to maintain. To maintain the dirt roads at least $30 per mile should be allowed on 300 miles. By a simple computation we find that fifty-six miles of gravel road at $125 is $7,000, and 100 miles of dirt road is $3,000, and our $10,000 revenue is exhausted. This is, then, the limit of such road that the county should construct.

Our county governments are not so efficient as our city governments. However honest county officials may be, however seriously they take their duties, they labor under a heavy burden of habit and custom that practically makes impossible any thorough, effective work by present methods.

In 1914 the United States expended in all $240,055,007 for road work; a quarter of a billion dollars; more than one-third of the value of the 1915 cotton crop at 10 cents per pound. If we would conserve this tremendous annual investment of public wealth in public works so that it may be cumulative in effect and not a dead annual charge for transportation, we must revise our methods of conducting road affairs, introduce proper supervision, proper business methods, and once and for all take roads out of local politics.

The instrumentality for accomplishing these ends is a proper system of road maintenance, with its auxiliary system of road accounts and financial control. Such system will save the community from assuming an undue burden of fixed charges, will provide for the permanent and effective upkeep of the public property represented by the road system, will distribute the annual revenues where traffic and investment values demand, and not as sought by local politicians, and will place the largest single item of public expenditure, that for public roads, on a business basis. The result will be that the huge investment of annual public revenues will have a cumulative value and the public property represented by that investment will be permanently conserved.

Rounded Corners Popular.
Rounded corners at road intersections are made at all important cross-roads and at the junctions of all roads where the traffic is sufficiently heavy to warrant it in Crawford county, Ia. This practice, according to the service bulletin of the Iowa state highway commission, is regarded with so much favor by the farmers that they donate the land required for extra width in the right of way.

The Big Failure.
"To what do you attribute his failure?"

"To the fact that he spent his life looking for a way to make money without working for it."—Detroit Free Press.

NEWS NOTES—MOVIELAND

Mary Pickford will be seen in boy's clothes again when her next picture, "A Poor Little Rich Girl," is released in March. The story has to do with a little girl who was rich as the world reckons riches—yet who was poor; who lived in a mansion—yet who was lonely; who wanted friends—yet had none. Happiness finally comes to her in an unusual way, as those who have read the book will recall; and Miss Pickford will doubtless interpret the role with her usual charm and understanding.

The star posed for "A Poor Little Rich Girl" in New York. She has now gone to California and has begun work on her next picture, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm."

A VAMPIRE PLAY.
Reel 1—She smokes, reclines at ease.

Yes, quite attractively, if you please! The poor young fish is finally caught.

Right in her net—as quick as thought!

Reel 3—At last the vampire rights all wrongs.

While the trombone plays sobby songs!

NO LOVE.

Raymond Hatton has been appearing in movies for two years, and never yet has been in one of those kissing fade-outs that end so many movies.

He never has had even a love scene.

Hatton looks forward hopefully to each new role assigned him.

Nothing can be more pathetic, it is said, than a love scene in it?

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

A rumor afloat last week was to the effect that Douglas Fairbanks would join the company exploiting such stars as Mary Pickford and George M. Cohan, at a salary of $15 per a week? Fifteen what? Why, $15,000, of course.

Theda Bara's next picture will appear in a few weeks. It is "The Tiger Woman," another vampire play.

Vernon Steele, a leading man of the stage, is to be Mae Marsh's leading man.

A humble extra nearly missed the coronation scene of Geraldine Farrar's "Joan, the Woman." She was chewing gum in cheerful disregard of the fact that there was no chewing gum in the time of Joan d'Arc.

"Fatty" Arbuckle will begin the production of two-reel comedies on or about March 1. Arbuckle has won great popularity, the secret of which lies in the fact that he makes his audience laugh at him as well as with him, never failing to be made the victim of a joke himself, instead of insisting on always being the one who plays the tricks upon others.

The fact that Arbuckle directs his own pictures is important, because he will set tasks for himself to do that no other director would have the moral courage to ask him to perform.

"One of the most important factors in screen comedy is speed," declares Arbuckle.

ALICE COMPLAINS.

Folding between her fingers a long, narrow strip of paper bearing the name of a noted British modeler of Fifth Avenue, Alice Brady, film star, sighed:

"Dressmaker's bill?" inquired a visitor. "Ra-ther," replied Miss Brady with a slight but perceptible grimace. "This," she went on, "is what takes the 'extra' out of extravagant salaries in the movies. Just look at this bill for dresses and hats which I wore in 'Frou Frou,' and probably can never wear again for the reason that they are unsuitable for any other use. Within a fraction of $3,000, and they say we motion picture stars are overpaid."

"Then, you have to buy your own clothes?"

"I surely do—all modern dresses, that is. For a costume play, like 'The Gilded Cage,' the clothes are supplied by the management. But costume plays are rare. The profession says they have gone out of fashion, and goodness knows I wish they would come right in again."

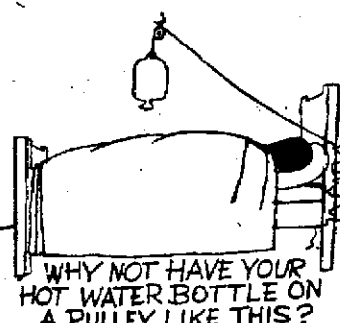

"This item of dress is a very serious matter to a motion picture actress in the speaking theater. When you are in a 'regular' play you buy your hats and gowns and wear them until it becomes necessary to replace them. For a motion picture you purchase an elaborate costume, wear it one or two scenes, lasting perhaps half an hour, and—poof! its usefulness is gone."

"What is more, you cannot resort to that garment for some other play, because women make up by far the greater part of picture audiences, and if you tried to 'repeat' a gown they would catch you at it in a minute. So your three or four or five hundred dollar creation goes into the discard after the first wearing."

WHY NOT HAVE YOUR HOT WATER BOTTLE ON A PULLEY, LIKE THIS?

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

HOT WATER BOTTLES.

What is more cheerless than a hot water bottle that has grown cold? It seems as if a hot water bottle stays warm just long enough to gain a position of intimacy. Then it becomes uninteresting.

A cold hot water bottle is like some dumb deep-sea creature, wobbly and clammy, that has crept into your boudoir and bed and affections under false pretenses. A hot water bottle seems to be to swap about five minutes of warmth for a night's lodging.

The world is full of things, we will not say people, which, and perhaps who, are trying to make deals like this.

Now what shall we do with a hot water bottle that has become indifferent? We are in its debt and we must not act too unfeelingly and ungratefully. In a moment of need we allowed it to do us a favor. It has us on our honor. Though it smells like an inner tube and gets as cold as formerly it was hot we must share it our couch and pillow.

Oh, who will tell us how, tactfully, to get rid of a hot water bottle about which we have ceased to care? Oh, let us be careful from whom and from what we accept small favors in this world!

A Gentle Reminder.

John—I understand Dashleigh's uncle has died, leaving him a fortune.

Tom—Yes. He has received a great many congratulations. Why, even his tailor sent him a bunch of forget-me-nots yesterday.—London Mail.

MARY PICKFORD as she will appear in her next picture, "A Poor Little Rich Girl," adopted from the well known Eleanor Gates novel and play.

GINGLES' JINGLES

THE QUILL.

Why stick around the office, boys? Why linger longer here? The blamed Old Quill is late again, and muchly late I fear; old Zack's been either waiting for some news or dropped the form in carting it from slab to press, and how old Zack can storm when things don't jibe just as they should and he can't run his sheet, we find him scarce around the burg, he's minus on the street. One solid week he goes to work before the break of day, returning home long after dark, when folks have hit the hay; he feels it's almost criminal to fall down with The Quill, a week of mental famine always comes from such a spill. Yes, Zack avoids subscribers, he is sensitive and shy, until again he goes to press he is some wretched guy. But boys I heard the type got pied, right through the air did soar, when Zack's old hickory limb went through a knothole in Lin H. Singler the floor.

MYERS THEATRE.

"Fair and Warmer."

Selwyn & Company will present "Fair and Warmer," the farce by Avery Hopwood, which was famous all over the country before one half of its year run at the Harris Theatre, New York, was completed, at Myers Theatre, on Sunday, Feb. 18, matinee and night.

"See 'Fair and Warmer' when it gets here," was the admonition of every visitor from New York as soon as he reached his home town. Its success measured in terms of dollars and cents, was unprecedented in New York. Its theatre was so filled to overflowing at every performance that before it was four months old, it had bettered the brilliant record of "Within The Law," and in Chicago, at the Cort Theatre, it duplicated this success.

Avery Hopwood has never written anything so incessantly amusing, so adroit, so witty or so sympathetic as this tale of two innocents who tried to revenge themselves on two giddy marriage partners.

Selwyn & Company have selected an admirable cast of farceurs for its local presentation.

"BLUE PARADISE" PLAYED AT MYERS

Vienness Opera House Offered to Janesville Theatre-Goers Last Evening

Played to Small House.

The Messrs. Shubert attraction, "The Blue Paradise," which had phenomenal runs in both New York and Chicago, played in Janesville last night at the Myers theatre and did not score any distinct success.

"The Blue Paradise" was made up of a prologue and two acts and was really a distinctly different and tuneful play, but it did not have the supporting cast the piece deserved.

There were some characters in the play that were entitled to mention here. First, the little flower girl, around whom the play is enacted, was portrayed by Gypsy Dale, who has a good voice. Robert Lee Allen, who appeared in the role of Justus, was a little fat comedian who produced the majority of laughs of the evening; he was natural and unaffected. Miss Norton, who was seen as a Chicago telephone girl touring Europe, gave a delightfully droll characterization of the part. Paul Nicholson, who played the lead, certainly could not sing and he didn't seem to care whether he put any effort into his work. Miss Juliette Lange and Mrs. Wynne deserves praise. But even with these by no stretch of the imagination could the play be deemed worth two dollars per seat.

Not at All Private.

In the trial of a case some time ago in one of the English courts a witness was asked to repeat a conversation that she had with her husband. Objection was made that the question should not be answered because the conversation was private in its nature.

The judge then asked the witness whether anybody except herself and husband was present. She replied that her mother and the husband's mother were present. Whereupon the judge remarked: "It appears that both mothers-in-law were present. I shall therefore rule that the conversation was public."—London Mail.

TO HELP YOUNG GIRLS

A Mother Wants Her Letter Published.

Eaton, Ill.—"I wish you would publish this letter for the benefit of young girls. My daughter suffered greatly from female trouble with cramps, and headache, and backache most of the time. She never felt like working and it seemed as though she was sick all the time. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped her in every way, in fact it has really cured her, for she no longer has periodic pains, and no more headaches or backache, and I want all young girls who suffer as she did to know about it."

—Mrs. ALMA MILLER, Eaton, Ill.

Another Girl's Experience.

New Castle, Ind.—"From the time I was twelve years old until I was seventeen I suffered each month so I had to be in bed. I had headache, backache and such pains I would cramp double every month. I did not know what it was to be easy a minute. My health was all run down and the doctors did not do me any good. A neighbor told my mother about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it and now I feel like a new person. I don't suffer any more and I am regular every month."

—Mrs. HAZEL HAMILTON, 822 South 10th St., Newcastle, Ind.

Girls who are troubled as these young women were, should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Clears Blotchy Skin

Don't worry about blotches or other skin troubles. You can have a clear, clean complexion by using a little zemo, obtained at any drug store for 25c, or extra large bottle at $1.00.

Zemo easily removes all traces of pimples, black heads, blotches, eczema, and ringworm and makes the skin clear and healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating, antiseptic liquid, neither sticky nor greasy and stains nothing. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

OUCH! LUMBAGO?

Try Musterole. See How Quickly It Relieves

You just rub Musterole in briskly, and usually the pain is gone—a delicious, soothing comfort comes to take its place.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Use it instead of mustard plaster. Will not blister.

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bitten feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). Always dependable.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

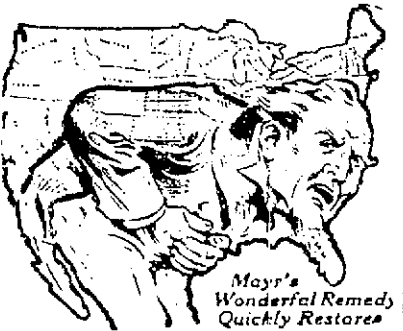

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They do not injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. Why not use the safe, gentle, harmless olive tablets to take calomel, but let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

More headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brains and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 50c a box. All druggists.

IT'S ALL WRONG, MISCHA, IT'S ALL WRONG.

Nan of Music Mountain

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN
Author of "WHISPERING SMITH"

(Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons)

When he was able to speak he told Jeffries everything. "It is my fault," he said hopelessly. "I was so crippled, so stunned, she must have thought—I see it now—that I was malingering and to ride out by daybreak and shoot Duke down on sight. It's the price a man must pay, Jeffries, for the ability to defend himself against this bunch of holdup men and assassins. Because they can't get me, I'm a 'gunman'."

"No, you're not a 'gunman,'" "A gunman and nothing else. That's what everybody, friends and enemies, reckon me—a gunman. You put me here to clean out this Calabassas gang, not because of my good looks, but because I've been, so far, a fraction of a second quicker on a trigger than these double-d—d crooks."

Jeffries, from behind his pipe, regarded De Spain's random talk calmly. "I do feel hard over my father's death," he went on moodily. "Who wouldn't? If God meant me to forget it, why did he put this mark on my face, Jeff? I did talk pretty strong to Nan about it on Music Mountain."

"I did feel, for a long time, I'd like to kill with my own hands the man that murdered my father, Jeff. My mother must have realized that her babe, if a man-child, was doomed to a life of bloodshed. I've been trying to think most of the night what she'd want me to do now. I don't know what

"God Pity the Men That Put It Over."

I can do, or can't do, when I set eyes on the old scoundrel. He's got to tell the truth—that's all I say now. If he lies, after what he made my mother suffer, he ought to die like a dog—no matter who he is.

"I don't want to break Nan's heart. What can I do? Hauging him here in Sleepy Cat, if I could do it, wouldn't help her feelings a whole lot. If I could see the fellow—" De Spain's hands, spread before him on the table, drew up tight. "If I could get my fingers on his throat, for a minute, and talk to him, tell him what I think of him—I might know what I would want to do—Nan might be there to see and judge between us. I'd be almost willing to leave things to her to settle her self. I only want what's right. But," the oath that recorded his closing threat was collected and pitiless, "if any harm comes to that girl now from this wild trip back among those wolves—I God pity the men that put it over. I'll wipe out the whole accursed clan, if I have to swing for it right here in Sleepy Cat."

John Lefevre, Jeffries, Scott in turn took him in hand to hold him during three days, to restrain the fury of his resentment, and keep him from riding to the run in a tumbler that each of them knew would mean only a tragedy worse than what had gone before. Even three days of tactical representation and patient admonition from cool-headed counselors did not accomplish all they hoped for in De Spain's attitude. His rage subsided, but only to be followed by a settled gloom that they knew might burst into uncontrollable anger at any moment.

A report reached McAlpin that Gale Morgan was making ready to return to Music Mountain with the remnants of Sandusky's gang, to make a demand on Duke for certain property and partnership adjustments. This rumor he telephoned to Jeffries. Before talking with De Spain, Jeffries went over the information with Lefevre. The two agreed it was right, in the circumstances, that De Spain should be nearer than Sleepy Cat to Nan. Moreover, the period of waiting she had enjoined on him was almost complete.

Without giving De Spain the story fully, the two men talking before him let the discussion drift toward a proposal on his part to go down to Calabassas, where he could more easily keep track of any movement to or from the gap, and this they approved. De Spain, already chafing under a hardly endured restraint, lost no time in starting for Calabassas, directing Lefevre to follow next day.

It added nothing to his peace of mind in the morning to learn definitely from McAlpin that Gale Morgan, within twenty-four hours, had really disappeared from Calabassas. No word of any kind had come from Music Mountain for days. No one at Calabassas was aware even that Nan had gone into the gap again. Bob Scott was at Thief River. De Spain telephoned to him to come up on the early stage, and turned his attention toward getting information from Music Mountain without violating Nan's injunction not to frustrate her most delicate effort with her uncle.

As a possible scout to look into her present situation and report on it, McAlpin could point only to Bull Page. Bull was a ready instrument, but his present value as an assistant had become a matter of doubt, since practically every man in the gap had threatened within the week to blow his head off—though Bull himself felt no scruples against making an attempt to reach Music Mountain and get back again. It was proposed by the canny McAlpin to send him in with a team and light wagon, ostensibly to bring out his trunk, which, if it had not been fed to the horses, was still in Duke's barn. As soon as a rig could be got up Page started out.

It was late November. A far, clear sky drew the snow-capped ranges sharply down to the eye of the desert—as if the speckless sky, lighted by the radiant sun, were but a monster glass rigged to trick the credulous retina. De Spain, in the saddle in front of the impassive level of the western horseman, his lips seeming to compress his thoughts, his lines over his forehead, and his hands half-slipped into the pockets of his snug leather coat, watched Page with his light wagon and horses drive away.

Idling around the neighborhood of the barns in the saddle, De Spain saw him gradually recede into the long desert perspective, the perspective which almost alone enabled the watcher to realize as he curtailed his eyes behind their long, steady lashes from the blazing sun, that it was a good bit of a way to the foot of the great out-post of the Superstition range.

De Spain's restlessness prevented his remaining quietly anywhere for long. As the morning advanced he cantered out on the Music Mountain trail, thinking of and wishing for a sight of Nan. The deadly shock of Pardaloe's story had been dulled by days and nights of pain. His deep-rooted love and his loneliness had quieted his impulse for vengeance and overborne him with a profound sadness. He realized how different his feelings were now from what they had been when she knelt before him in the darkened room and, not daring to plead for mercy for her uncle, had asked him only for the pity for herself that he had seemed so slow to give. Something reproached him now for his coldness at the moment that he should have thought of her suffering before his own.

It was while riding in this way that his eyes, reading mechanically the wagon trail he was aimlessly following—for no reason other than that it brought him, though forbidden, a little closer to her—arrested his attention. He checked his horse. Something, the trail told him, had happened. Page had stopped his horses. Page had met two men on horseback coming from the gap. After a parley—for the horses had trumped around long enough for one—the wagon had turned completely from the trail and struck across the desert, north; the two horsemen, or one with a led horse, had started back for the gap.

All of this De Spain gathered without moving his horse outside a circle of thirty feet. What did it mean? Page might have fallen in with cronies from the gap, abandoned his job, and started for Sleepy Cat, but this was unlikely. He might have encountered enemies, been pointedly advised to keep away from the gap, and pretended to start for Sleepy Cat, to avoid trouble with them. Deeming the second the more probable conclusion, De Spain, absorbed in his speculations, continued toward the gap to see whether he could not pick up the trail of Page's rig farther on.

Within a mile a further surprise awaited him. The two horsemen, who had headed for the gap after stopping Page, had left the trail, turned to the south, down a small draw, which would screen them from sight, and set out across the desert.

No trail and no habitation lay in the direction they had taken—and it seemed clearer to De Spain that the second horse was a led horse. There was a story in the incident, but his interest lay in following Page's movements, and he spurred swiftly forward to see whether his messenger had resumed the gap trail and gone on with his mission. He followed this quest almost to the mountains, without recovering any trace of Page's rig. He halted. It was certain now that Page had not gone into the gap.

Perplexed and annoyed, De Spain, from the high ground on which he sat his horse, cast his eyes far over the desert. The brilliant sunshine flooded it as far as the eye could reach. He scanned the vast space without detecting a sign of life anywhere, though none better than he knew that any abundance of it might be there. But his gaze caught something of interest on the farthest northern horizon, and on this his scrutiny rested a long time. A soft brown curtain rose just above the earth line against the blue sky. Toward the east it died away and toward the west it was cut off by the Superstition peaks.

De Spain, without giving the weather signs much thought, recognized their import, but his mind was filled with his own anxieties and he rode smartly back toward Calabassas, because he was not at ease over the puzzles in the trail. When he reached the depression where the horsemen had, without any apparent reason, turned south, he halted. Should he follow them or turn north to follow Page's wanderings? If Page had been scared away from the gap, for a time, he probably had no information that De Spain wanted, and De Spain knew his cunning and persistence well enough to be confident

Use "Gets-It," Lift Corn Right Off

Shrivels, Loosens—and It's Gone!

"Just like taking the lid off—that's how easy you can lift a corn off your toe after it has been treated with the wonderful discovery, 'Gets-It.' Honor to the world over, and you'll find nothing so simple, simple and easy as 'Gets-It.' You folks who have wrapped your toes in bandages to look like bundles, who have used salves that turned your toes raw and sore, and used plasters that would shift from their place and never 'get' the corn, and who have dug and picked at your corns with knives and scissors and perhaps made them bleed—just quit these old and painful ways and try 'Gets-It' just once. You put it on a drop or two, and it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. You can put your shoe and stocking right on again. The pain is all gone. Then the corn dies a painless, shriveling death. It loosens from your toe, and off it comes. 'Gets-It' is the biggest selling corn remedy in the world today. There's none other as good. 'Gets-It' is sold by druggists everywhere. 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Janesville and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Dr. J. C. Dine, Reliable Drug Co., People's Drug Co., W. T. Sherer, Smith Drug Co.

he would be back on the gap road, and within the cover of the mountains, before a storm should overtake him. On the north the brown curtain had risen fast and already enveloped the farthest peaks of the range. Letting his horse stretch its neck, he hesitated a moment longer trying to decide whether, to follow the men to the south or the wagon to the north. A woman might have done better. But no good angel was there to guide his decision, and in another moment he was riding rapidly to the south with the even, brown, misty cloud behind him rolling higher into the northern sky.

Dinner Stories

In heavy clouds the smoke was rising from the burning building, but no flame appeared, and the night was very dark as the little local brigades fought their best endeavors. Suddenly, from a fissure in the roof, a flame shot out, and almost simultaneously the man at the nozzle directed his stream of water straight upon it.

The excited captain seized him by the arm.

"Be careful, man!" he shouted. "Keep the water off that blaze! Can't you see it's the only light we've got to see to put 't fire out by?"

Tillie was very fond of pleasant days, and at the close of a heavy rainstorm petitioned in her prayer for fine weather. When, the next morning, the sun shone bright and clear, she became jubilant and told her prayer to her grandmother.

"Well, dear," said the grandmother to the little girl, "why can't you pray tonight that it may be warmer tomorrow, so that grandma's rheumatism will be better?"

"All right, I will," was the quick response; and that night, as she knelt, she said:

"Oh, Lord, please make it hot for grandma."

At his best, Elmer was not noted for brilliancy, consequently he was not likely to shine in his history examination. One stumbling block in the world's record concerned Nero. Elmer had heard of Nero, but he had absolutely no recollection of his achievements. But for once his intellect was equal to the task imposed upon it.

"The less said about Nero the better," he wrote.

The examiner apparently thought likewise and marked him perfect.

MEXICO, MAR. 1, OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY OF DISCOVERY.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Mexico City, Feb. 16.—The four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of Mexico by Francisco Hernandez de Cordoba will be celebrated here March 1, under the auspices of the Mexican Geographical Society aided by the local Spanish colony. That Hernando Cortes was the first to touch Mexican soil when he landed here March 1, under the auspices of the Society has been claimed, that de Cordoba, bearing a commission from the governor of Cuba, landed on the peninsula of Yucatan in 1517, and took possession of that territory in the name of the King of Spain. The expedition apparently was not a success and returned to its base. The exact date of de Cordoba's debarkation is not known certainly but according to the chronicles of the historian Bernal Diaz del Castillo, it probably was March 1, 1517.

PARIS HAS TROUBLE WITH MUNICIPAL FUNDS.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Paris, Feb. 16.—Municipal finances of Paris for 1917 will again show a deficit, according to the forecast of the budget committee. The deficit is estimated at 111,641,470 francs and is due to increased charges and decreased receipts both resulting from the war. The deficit for 1916, not yet definitely known, was estimated by M. Delanney, Perfect of the Seine, at 143,000,000 francs. M. Dausset, head of the budget committee puts it at nearer 300,000,000. The war cost Paris 134,445,948 francs in 1914 and 156,835,297 francs in 1915, about equally divided between reduced receipts from city taxes on food and other products and increased expenditures for war relief.

Industries to city employees on account of the high cost of living add $370,000 francs to the budget of 1917. All the deficits since the beginning of the war have been provided for by the sale of one year municipal bonds the first issue at 5 1/2 per cent and the second at 6 per cent.

Hope Almost Abandoned When She Found Remedy

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Relieves Chronic Case of Long Standing.

After a long period of suffering with liver and bowel trouble that brought on piles, during which she had tried many remedies without obtaining relief, Mrs. Mary J. Jewell, of Berrien Springs, Mich., heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and obtained a bottle from her druggist. This simple, inexpensive laxative compound brought almost immediate relief and Mrs. Jewell wrote to Dr. Caldwell about her case.

In her letter Mrs. Jewell says, "I had tried so many things for the piles, without being helped at all, I had about given up hope of ever being better. I knew it was the condition of my bowels that caused them, and after I had taken a bottle of your Syrup Pepsin I knew it was very grateful to you for sending me this little book—the advice and instructions it gives would teach anyone how to get well and how to keep well."

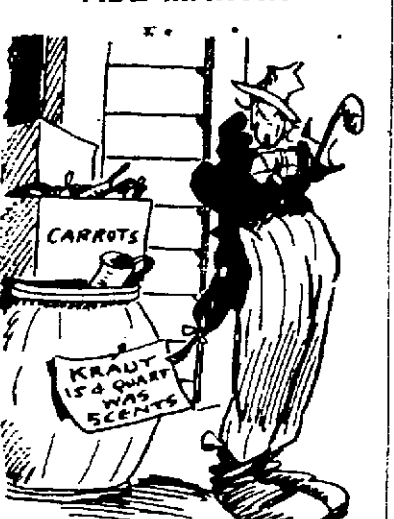

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, free from opiate or narcotic drugs, and is mild and gentle in its action, bringing relief in an easy, natural way, without griping, or other pain or discomfort.

Druggists everywhere sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

AUSTRIA'S IRON COINS ZINCED TO PREVENT RUST.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, Feb. 15.—The manner in which iron money is made in Austria is thus described in the annual bulletin circular of Messrs. Samuel Montague and Co.:

"The problem of protecting the pieces from rust has been solved by super-imposing a slight layer of zinc. The discs of metal, together with some zinc powder, are placed in a vessel, and heated for a certain time at a temperature somewhat below that of the melting point of zinc, whereupon a surface is formed upon the discs, which not only preserves the pieces from rust, but also enables the die to be impressed without cracking the surface of the metal. This zinc-plated iron money hardly differs either in aspect or weight from that formed of nickel."

TEUTON PRISONERS, FREED FROM JAPAN, HAVE JOINED ALLIES.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Tokio, Feb. 16.—Eight German war prisoners, released from the Japanese prison camp at Nagoya, near here, because they were of French descent and former residents of Alsace-Lorraine, are today on their way to Marseille to join the French army and fight the country which claims them.

HARD CHRONIC COUGH Made Well by Delicious Vinol.

Crestline, Ohio.—"I contracted a hard, chronic cough, and was weak, nervous and run down. I have a small family of three, and it was hard for me to do my work. I took different medicines without benefit. Finally I heard about Vinol, and it has restored me to health and strength, my cough is all gone and I feel fine."—Mrs. H. H. Carlisle.

We guarantee Vinol for chronic coughs and colds, and for all weak, nervous, run-down conditions.—Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis. Vinol is sold in Broadhead by W. J. Smith. Also at the leading drug store in all Wisconsin towns.

Safe Home Remedy for Skin-Troubles

Eczema, ringworm, and other itching, burning skin eruptions are so easily made worse by improper treatment that one has to be very careful. There is one method, however, that you need never hesitate to use, even on a baby's tender skin—that is the resinol treatment. Resinol is the prescription of a Baltimore doctor, put up in the form of resinol ointment and resinol soap. This proved so remarkably successful, that thousands of other physicians have prescribed it constantly for over twenty years.

Generally resinol stops itching at once, and heals the eruption quickly and at little cost. Resinol ointment and resinol soap can be bought at any druggist's.

Resinol Soap is not only unusually cleansing and softening, but its regular use gives to the skin and hair that natural beauty of perfect health which cosmetics can only imitate.

Rheumatism Is My Weather Prophet.

I can tell stormy weather days off by the twinges in my shoulders and knees. But here's an old friend that soon drives out the pain and aches.

JESUS HEALS A NOBLEMAN'S SON
Galilee was a populous, cultivated, and comparatively unconventional district. It was more in touch with the great world of art and traffic. An infusion of foreign elements in its population and its distance from the seat of national ecclesiasticism had a liberalizing influence. All tended to make it a favorable field for Jesus' ministry. Here He won most of His converts. Most of His miracles were performed in Galilee.

One obstacle stood in His way. He was himself a Galilean. He diagnosed the case when He said a prophet is not honored in his own country. Familiarity with him breeds contempt of him. But Jesus had foretold this by His brief career at Jerusalem. His honor was an exotic transplant from Judea to Galilee. The Galilean pilgrims brought His fame back with them. So He was "received." * * * At the very scene of His first miracle came an important appeal for the working of another. A father's heart, wrung by anguish, forgetful of rank and station, makes its pitiful appeal. What racks it if it is a king's offspring? Shall he stand upon any ceremony while his son lies at the point of death?

Thus early in His career Jesus announces a fundamental principle which shall guide Him in the use of miraculous power. His signs and wonders are not wrought to extort faith from others. On the contrary, it is to be a witness to the faith of the nobleman. This faith the nobleman shows in his journey of twenty miles, and in the language of his appeal. The strength of his faith is further manifest in the way it endures an unexpected and severe test. Healing in absence was not so much as dreamed of. Yet, when Jesus spoke the word the man "believed" and "went." There was no dubious hesitation or further appeal for Jesus' own presence. * * *

But on the morrow the nobleman's faith was destined to sweep out in a wider circle to embrace the miracle-worker in a new and diviner office. When, by comparison of hours, it was discovered that the moment of the child's recovery was identical with that in which Jesus uttered the word of power, the cry of the nobleman believed His Divine nature and Messiahship. In this faith his whole house shared. So we have the lovely spectacle of the first converted family. * * * In has been affirmed by several authorities that St. John had a philosophy of his own in harmony with which he wrote his Gospel. He certainly had a method in the selection of incidents, miracles, and discourses which he recorded. In this instance of the nobleman, a story which bears the stamp of evident truth, the evangelist gives in epitome the history of the generation, growth, and fruition of faith. There is the sense of imperative need, the patent insufficiency of the human resource, the quest of power, the cry of the nobleman in action, "O, that I might find Him of whom Moses and the prophets have spoken." The miracle is a notable instance of not quenching the smoking flax. It has been said that Jesus lit up the little spark of faith in the breast of the nobleman into a clear and enduring flame for the light and comfort of himself and his house. * * *

Jesus and John were so hot tempered and violent that they were surnamed "Boanerges"—sons of thunder, but grace led one of them to die as a martyr, and the other to be called the apostle of love. What God has done for others, He will do for us. If there are thorns of selfishness and briars of envy or malice in our character we must not be satisfied with their extermination, but ask God to give us the very opposite of these, the love which suffeth long and is kind, which envieth not and is not puffed up.

Where the thorns of criticism and faultfinding grow, there let us claim a tall and stately growth of generous praise, and hearty appreciation. Let us never be satisfied with overcoming the petty faults and follies of our character, but ask God also to adorn our lives with all the graces and virtues that are in Christ Jesus. Instead of the briars, the beautiful myrtle, the fragrant smilax, and the sweet-scented arbutus.

It may be that there are some thorns in our own environment, as well as in our character; some things which are hard to bear, and painful to endure. Can we change these thorns into a spray of gratitude and praise. Paul had a thorn in his flesh, and so perhaps have you—a disagreeable neighbor or an uncongenial roommate. Paul found God's grace sufficient to change that painful thorn into his greatest blessing, and so may you.

After his resurrection has even the death of its sting and converted it into a gateway to heaven. Yes, grace is sufficient for all things.

dence. Unhesitatingly and joyously they proceed to apply the balm. But no moral renovation can be effected mechanically. The rational soul must contribute something. That something must be much. It consists at least partly in faith in spiritual resources. A faith which claims its portion, which puts out the hand, up to the thorn, and withers, and plucks the fruit of the tree of life.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, Feb. 16.—Dr. Miller is in attendance at a dental clinic today. He expects to return home Saturday. Professor and Mrs. Lewis are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby boy at their home.

Mrs. V. N. Green was a Janesville visitor yesterday. The young ladies bridge club met at the home of Miss Wilma Hurd yesterday afternoon. The meeting was made to the Hurd home with hob-nobs and afternoon dinner was served. Mrs. Anson Blinn and daughter Alice, of St. Paul, Minn., were in Janesville callers Thursday. J. Clarke who is a member of the Illinois National Guard is home for a few days visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Clarke. He expects to be mustered out soon. WHITEWATER TRIMS LA CROSSE, 14-9

Whitewater, Feb. 16.—Another of those famous basketball games was played here yesterday afternoon at the gym between La Crosse Normal and Whitewater. It was a great game and the large number of witnesses declared it the best ever seen here. The two teams are contenders for the championship of normal schools and a bitter contest it proved to be. But few fouls were called and these mostly on double dribbles. The first half closed with the visitors in the lead by a score of 3 to 2. The locals made their two points by a long field goal by "Red" Johnson and the crowd went wild. At the beginning of the second half the locals got the jump on the La Crosse man and a spurt, and rally sent the local score to twelve. The final whistle found the score 14 to 9 in favor of Whitewater. This leaves the teams in a possible three cornered tie. Whitewater has been defeated once last week by La Crosse by a large score of 33 to 12. The North-westerns seemed to walk away with our boys at that time and made many of their baskets from the center of the floor. The locals have one more game to play and that at Platteville. It will be a hard contest as they beat that city by only 3 points. La Crosse has three games to play. They go to Platteville today and if they lose, Platteville will be in the running for the southern championship.

The funeral of Captain Nels T. Nelson was held Wednesday from the Skoponung church. He died at Wreathville and was for many years a resident of this city. The deceased was born in Norway 55 years ago and came to America when a boy. He was a sailor and had a wide experience on both sea and land. He was in the U. S. navy during the Civil war. At one time he was wrecked and spent a winter on North Manitou Island. After his marriage he left the navy and came here to live on a farm and for many years was engaged in farming.

The Girls' club of Palmyra, numbering about twenty-four, came over in sleigh loads last evening and made the Strand after the theatre they were given a luncheon at the home of L. L. Clarke by Miss Anne Clarke, a member of the club and a teacher in the Palmyra school.

Kidney Disorder

(By Dr. L. C. Babcock.)
Simple methods are usually the most effective ones when treating any disorder of the human system. The mere drinking a cup of hot water each morning, plenty of pure water all day, and a little Anuric before every meal has been found the most effective means of overcoming kidney trouble. Death would occur if the kidneys did not work day and night in separating poisons and uric acid from the blood.

The danger signals are backache, depressions, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

Since it is such a simple matter to step into your favorite drug store and obtain Anuric, as every druggist dispenses it, anyone who earnestly desires to regain health and new life will waste no time in beginning this treatment.

WISCONSIN WOMEN SHOULD TAKE THIS ADVICE.

Stevens Point, Wis.—"I am a great believer in Dr. Pierce's medicine. I took 'Favorite Prescription' before my children and it helped me wonderfully. It also cured me of woman's weakness. I am never without this medicine. I also gave it to my little girl; I thought she was going into a decline and it cured her. I cannot recommend this medicine too highly; it has done wonders for me and my family. Women who are suffering from weakness of any sort should give it a trial."

INTRA-STATE LEAGUE HAS BERTH FOR CITY SHOULD FANS DESIRE

League President Wants to Place Franchise Here—Sunday Ball.

Members of the intra-state league want Janesville to take a franchise for the 1917 season. If Janesville fans want high class Sunday baseball they stand an excellent chance to secure it.

G. W. Rankin, of Port Arkison, president of the Wisconsin Central State body, in a letter today to George W. Caldwell, local sports promoter, writes, "It is more than likely that there will be at least one change in the personnel of the league for 1917, and I was requested to communicate with you with the thought in mind that possibly Janesville may wish to lodge application for a franchise."

The annual meeting of the league is scheduled for March sixth at Port Arkison. Among the matters to be disposed of will be the election of officers, awarding of the pennant to the Port Arkison team for 1916, formulation of a playing schedule and consideration of applications for franchises.

Aside from the Port, Beaver Dam, Johnson Creek, Milwaukee, Watertown and Whitewater are members of the organization. The league was a big success last year and drew record crowds. Sixty-four of the local shore league and Port Arkison played a series of duals for the Wisconsin semi-pro honors.

Manager Caldwell is inclined to believe that Janesville can land the franchise. He is at present the anxiousness that providing suitable entertainment is forthcoming and the backers of the Janesville Cardinals will go after it.

Local fans, on each occasion of a home date at the Port last season, had a good representation. On one occasion eighteen automobile loads of fans made the trip overland and in addition this big delegation made the journey on the railway. The question arises that if Janesville baseball lovers will travel to see Port Arkison play why not boost along a project whereby the Port team will be brought to Janesville.

On the street today the idea of taking the franchise found many warm supporters. Plans are already in the embryo to host along a project whereby the Port team will be brought to Janesville.

It is doubtful whether there is a team on the Central circuit which has a better baseball plant than the one here. A fast and classy diamond, a good outfield and a grandstand which will seat twenty-two hundred people is what Janesville has. Railway facilities are excellent also. Already semi-pro players have written Mr. Caldwell inquiring if he will have the Cardinals in the field next season. Until the letter from the Port Arkison team backer came had given little thought to the matter, it is scheduled for consideration in the future, however.

MADISON HIGH MEETS BLUE FIVE TONIGHT

Capital City Crew Comes Confronted Concerning Capturing Crucial Contest.

Tonight the local basketball team will battle against the Madison High team. From previous records and from the reputation Madison High has won so far this year, it will undoubtedly give the local team a hard battle. Madison High, during the past six weeks, has lost a single game in its home floor, and has lost very few on other floors. They are now considered one of the strongest teams in the state.

Couch Kall, in a scruled the strength of the Madison team and has during the past week worked faithfully with the team, in preparing them for tonight's game. The boys are now in the best condition they have been in, so far this season, and it is anticipated by all who are connected with the team that the local boys will make it interesting for Madison, and all who attend.

Following are the men who will be in suits: Kenning, Hager, Feina, Cassidy, Cushing, Kober and Morse.

BELOIT TOSSERS WIN AT MILTON

Line City College Team Take Good Game From Village Five, 36 to 17.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milton, Feb. 16.—In what proved to be the most exciting and interesting game of the season, the Milton College five went down to defeat before the Beloit College basketball tossers last night. The game was close and intense for the first thirty minutes, and then Beloit, using substitutes whose work was exceptional, forged ahead and swamped the home team before the finish.

Milton started the scoring when Lauphere dropped in a ringer in the first minute of play. A minute later he tossed a free throw. It was some time before the much touted sharpshooters from the Line City could find the basket, due partly to the good work of Milton's guards, Green and Tabbot. When they did find it, though, they landed frequently. So did Milton. The first half ended 12 to 9 in favor of Beloit.

In the first ten minutes of the second half neither team seemed to have the advantage of the other, but after Beloit's rebounder, Rhenstrom, who was taken out for four personal fouls, Beloit forged into the lead. Phillips of Beloit led in the scoring with eleven points. Lauphere of Milton scored nine.

WAR WOULD NOT HURT THE BASEBALL SPORT

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Feb. 16.—Speculation as to the probable effect of war upon baseball has been prevalent in New York since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Germany. Without exception every man highly connected with the national game has given his word that he will be found going his utmost for his country. Dave Fultz, president of the Baseball Players' Fraternity, has declared war would automatically suspend the hostilities between members of the organization and the baseball magnates, but he makes it plain that the issue would be taken up at the earliest possible moment. Speculation of this sort has turned minds of veterans back to the days of the Spanish-American war, and has revived tales of baseball accomplishments during the Civil war period. It has pointed out that every sign of hostilities between the nation and another has always been a boon to baseball, due to the fact that the United States army fosters and encourages athletics in every manner possible.

Recently baseball teams always are organized when the opportunity presents itself. The period following the Civil war saw the birth of baseball in its mightiest form. It was then that it gradually progressed, it became the entertaining sport of thousands. The Spanish-American war saw the same conditions.

Cuba's first concentration camps were sports lovers. They sought out baseball and other forms of amusement with such avidity that unprecedented gains of prosperity followed. The coming of the federal league was the only thing to kill the wonderful push this concentration of men had given the sport. Possibly hostilities, or preparation for defense, or the war of arms would have the same effect, hard as it might be in other ways.

FULTON, FIGHTER, CAN'T GET GAY WITH HIS FOLKS.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Rochester, Minn., Feb. 16.—"Are there any more at home like you?" asked of Fred Fulton, giant heavy-weight and possible opponent of Jess Willard, brings forth an affirmative answer. Fred is six feet four inches tall, which weighs 218 pounds, but he has nothing on all his family, who live in Beatrice, Nebraska.

Here's the family table. Brother John, 6 ft. 4 in. 210 pounds; Brother George, 6 ft. 6 in. 200 pounds; Brother Roy, 6 ft. 5 in. 215 pounds; Brother Vernon, 6 ft. 4 in. 180 pounds; Brother Earl, aged 17, 6 ft. 4 in. 212 pounds; Sister Pearl, age 15, 5 ft. 11 in. 200 pounds; Father, deceased, 6 ft. 4 in. 240 pounds; Mother, 6 ft. 200 pounds.

It was announced today. It is expected to be the greatest sharpshooters' contest ever held in Wisconsin.

TOMAH INDIANS FACE CARDINALS SATURDAY; EASTERNEERS TONIGHT

Second Game With Oswego Is Cancelled Because of Poor Showing Recently in Illinois.

THE LINE-UP TONIGHT.

Cardinals	Oswego, N. Y.
Mitchell	Murphy
Field	Johnson
Floden	Duval
Elder	Roberts
Knapp	Murphy

But one game will be played by the Cardinals against the Oswego, N. Y. team tonight. The Cardinals will out new meat tomorrow night, the Tomah Indians.

Manager George W. Caldwell accepted the Saturday night date when one was offered by the Indians' management, because of the apparent inability of the Oswegoans to cope successfully with such teams as they have been meeting in northern Illinois the past week and a half.

BADGERS CRIPPLED FOR GAME SATURDAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—Dr. McEwell, coach of the University of Wisconsin basketball team, is having plenty of worries these days in attempting to keep his team in the running. First an injury and then scholastic difficulties have wrecked the team to such an extent that the lineup for the remaining games is very uncertain. Ohio State is on the schedule for Saturday evening, and at the present time the Badger coach is uncertain who will start the contest. It is thought that he will make another change in the lineup and put in some of the substitutes.

Olsen and Meyers are out of the game for an indefinite length of time, although both may play Saturday. McIntosh is also out of the game for the present. In an effort to strengthen the team Carroll and Bauer, who have acted as substitutes all year, have been placed in the lineup to speed up the offense. Both men appeared in the Northwestern game last Monday and performed very creditably. They held their own in the game, but since that time the guard position left vacant by Meyers, Carlson has been playing the offensive guard and Simpson the defensive guard.

Dr. McEwell has added several new men to his squad this week to assist in the work of conditioning the regulars. They are Keller, Kelley, Mitchell and Knapp. Although Mitchell and Knapp are ineligible to play this year, they are a help in the scrimmage drill. Elder and Kelley may get a chance to play in some of the games. Ohio State has a team which will give the Badgers a hard contest unless they play better than they did against Northwestern. Early in the year the Badgers won handsily from Ohio State, but since that time the Ohio has developed wonderfully. Although the game is to be played at Madison, a close score will be the result. Leade and Becker, Ohio State has two of the best forwards in the conference. Both are big men and can handle the ball.

The sums which modern plungers are said to win on turf events sink into modesty when compared with some winnings which have been gathered in by bettors on the English Derby. Sir Joseph Hawley on three occasions won from $250,000 to $300,000—viz.: On Tedington, in 1861, on Musjid, in 1859, and on Beadsmen, in 1853. He would have won as much on Blue-Gown in 1869 had he not hedged.

Pin Meet Money For The Bowlers

Announcement of the prize winners in the state pin meet at Watertown, shows two local five man teams, one single and two double awards to Janesville bowlers. Baumann's Colts finished thirtieth and drew twenty dollars. "Doc" Richards' Goldfish came fifty-fourth in the winning column and were awarded fourteen dollars. Earl Merrick was the only local artist to place in the singles, he finishing seventy-sixth, and receiving nine dollars and thirty-three cents. Newman and "Bill" Dickenson were in 107th place in the doubles and split $4.75 between them. Morris and "Doc" Sartell, three points below, "divided" four dollars.

The scores of the local men were: Baumann's Colts, 2,656; Richards' Goldfish, 2,652; Merrick, 584; Newman-Dickenson, 1,108, and Morris-Sartell, 1,107.

NATIONAL OPENS ON APRIL ELEVENTH

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Feb. 16.—The National League season will open on April 11 and close October 4, according to the official schedule, which was made public by John K. Tener, president of the league, here today. It calls for the usual 154 games with three trips around the circuit by each club and in other respects complements the American league schedule announced last night.

The card for the opening day follows: New York at Boston. Philadelphia at Brooklyn. St. Louis at Cincinnati. Pittsburgh at Chicago.

Cincinnati drew the greatest number of Sunday games—sixteen, while St. Louis drew the most Saturday games for his Pittsburgh club. He was awarded fifteen. In addition to the Saturday bills, Dreyfus also was given three holidays, Decoration Day, Independence Day and Labor Day.

Chicago was second best in the disposition of Sunday dates with fourteen, while St. Louis was given twelve. The greater number of Sunday games allotted to the three cities differs from that of the American league, because only three cities in the national circuit permit baseball on the Sabbath, while the American league, baseball is allowed in four. Brooklyn and Philadelphia, each drew thirteen Saturdays while Boston, New York, Cincinnati and Chicago have twelve each. St. Louis was awarded the fewest Saturday games—eleven.

MORRIS MILLER

The present generation of fans "can't see" the game of twenty-five or thirty years ago. They point to the fact that the game never was so fast as it is today. Nor was the sport ever on so solid a foundation as regards both the playing and business department. The large attendance, the fat salaries paid to managers and players, and the millions of dollars invested in parks and franchises are items that tell of the progress of the national game. Still like fizz joy, the pastime should improve with age, and perhaps an increase in batting will be the next step forward.

Pitcher Roy Mitchell, veteran of the Vernon team, who is said to be one of the players carrying a double contract with Ed Maier, has announced that he will not play ball for the Cubs. There is an intimation, however, that he wants to get away from Vernon and join Ham Patterson and Doc White in their Dallas venture.

Two players are called leaders when it comes to irritating the opposition. Jimmy Sheppard, former Cub and now signed as coach of the same club, had a quite way of getting a rival's goat that has never been eclipsed. Of the later generation of players Riddle Jones, also of the Cubs, is called the best. Their talk nettles the players of the opposing team. Now that they will be together on the same club something lively is to be expected when the season opens.

The largest sum ever taken by one man on the Derby is said by Bailey's magazine to have gone to Mr. Naylor, on Macaroni, in 1863, but the amount is not stated. Mr. Chaplin won a larger amount on Hermit in 1867, but did not get half of it. Mr. Merry was said to have won $50,000 on Thorndon, but the real amount was $350,000.

The half length by which the Irish colt Barbarian was beaten by Daniel C. Bourke in 1853 makes a difference of $450,000 to Bookmaker Davies. He lost $360,000 on the Epsom week when West Australian won the Derby.

The largest amount that was ever stood on one horse was by Mr. Jacques and his confederates. This was on Midway which was backed to win $1,350,000 in the Derby won by Voltaire. Naylor, bookmaker, has won the Derby since Caracacus carried it off in 1862. He was ridden by a stable lad, and was the property of Charles Shewring.

Baseball demands quick physical action and encourages quick mental action. It develops a nimble wit if one has any bent at all in that direction, says William E. Hanna in the New York Herald.

In the long stretch from mid-April to mid-October, which is the championship season, there are many instances of this. Quick answers as they are known among baseball men, are frequent; they are of diverse apices and vary from razor edged repartees to the retort courteous. If you were in a position to hear you would hear as much witty persiflage on the diamond and on the bench of the rafter as of the bludgeoned sort. Every game has its verbal swings and sparring and they "get across."

Not all the humor comes from the experienced player and not all of it is intentional. This story of the bush leaguer who when Connie Mack wrote asking him what position he played, sent back a photograph of himself in a crouching position and inscribed "This is he position I play" is true. So is the one of the Milwaukee fan who hurried through the gate one threatening afternoon and in response to the cry of the gate tender, "Here, you forgot your rain check," replied, as he rushed for the grandstand, "I don't need any; I got an umbrella."

having to do with a supposedly undue quantity of figurative wooden matter in the cranium. Bodie was at the bat in a game against the Yanks and stopped the play to remove a splinter from his hand. As he did so Birdie Cree, from the New York bench, gave him this bit of advice: "Stop scratching your head, Ping."

A hard man to beat in an exchange of pleasantries between pitcher and player is Sherwood Magee. He was trudging from the field to the bench in Boston when a denizen of the bleachers informed him that he was "a big bum"—a favorite epithet from the safety of the stand, and "didn't earn his money." "Maybe you're right," Magee flung back "but I'll be in my little bed tomorrow morning when you're delivering that second load of ice."

Mike Prendergast, pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, who has been expelled according to announcement of Dave Fultz, from the players' fraternity, says he will beat David to it and resigned some time before the expelling happened.

Earle Mack, hopeful son of the famous Connie, is going to try his hand at the managerial game again. He has been named to lead the Charlotte team of the North Carolina league. Mack managed the Eugene team in the same league in 1914 and 1915 and last season played first base for Asheville.

AEROPLANE MAIL SERVICE BETWEEN WINDY-TWIN CITIES.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 16. Aeroplanes will soon be carrying mail from Minneapolis and St. Paul to Chicago, making one round trip flight each day, and delivering in the Twin Cities each day mail written in Chicago the same day. The time now consumed by rail is twelve hours in the 450 miles. Postmaster A. E. Purdy of Minneapolis and Postmaster Otto N. Raths of St. Paul are working together on the plan.

A California Opinion on Compensation

SOME years ago the Los Angeles, California Chamber of Commerce in a signed resolution made this brief statement:

"The confiscation of the property of the vineyardists and brewers without proper compensation is dishonest and wrong and would be a blot upon the history of California for all time to come."

Would not confiscation without compensation equally besmirch the history of Wisconsin?

Our State has won fame the world over for its progressive laws—for its initiative in protecting the public welfare. Shall we, at this stage, hesitate to take the step that will correct a glaring injustice?

Today the law protects you in the matter of compensation if your property or business is damaged by adverse legislation; it does not protect the Brewing Industry. Why? Doesn't it seem that something has been overlooked and should be made right without delay?

The Brewing Industry does not ask exception or favoritism; it does ask the protection, the justice, the rights that you enjoy. Your property, your business cannot be confiscated or destroyed without compensation; the law provides for that. Should not the Brewing Industry—the largest tax-payer in the State—be accorded equal justice?

This plea is made not in the interests of the property owners of the Brewing Industry alone, but for consideration of the welfare of

Fifteen thousand persons directly employed in the Brewing Industry—

Twenty-eight thousand persons employed in the retail trade—

Thousands of farmers who produce the raw materials that enter into brewery products.

Should not these many thousands of loyal Wisconsin tax-payers and home-owners be entitled to justice and fair play? They are your partners because they have helped pay the taxes and have helped to build up the state that you call home—that gives you protection. They are your partners because you are represented by your Government and your Government has derived a large share of its income (taxes) from the Brewing Industry.

If one partner quits, the other partner should be compensated.

Compensation is fair for one and fair for all.

Compensation now protects some—let the law be so amended that compensation will protect all.

WAR KILLS MANY NOT ON BATTLEFIELD

In the year in which the war began, the report shows, there were 362,354 more births than deaths in England and Wales. In 1915 the excess of births over deaths was 455,607. There were 54,569 fewer births and 45,564 more deaths in 1915 than in 1914.

"The reduction in the number of births," says the report, "emphasizes the importance of saving child life and of improving the health of all survivors. There is no justification in allowing the total deaths in childhood to one-half their present number. In 1915, 98,477 infants died in their first year after birth, and 55,607 died at ages one to five."

The tuberculosis work of local authorities, the report says, has been greatly retarded by the war, and it is said that one of the most urgent of all after-war problems will be to secure the early resumption and extension of this work.

LEVY'S

Women will like the styles this spring. They are so different and becoming. They are cut on big generous lines with a great deal of fullness in the shirt part. A great many have the bevel silhouette, either cut rounded or with big pockets or extra sheering on the sides to give the full effect over the hips. The colors are so lovely, whether in the solid color or the big plaids and checks that are so good this season. There are excellent colors in Bolivia, Burella, Wool Velour, Suede, Camel's Hair and Polo Cloth, a good selection of Coats - $15 to $39.50

Madison, Wis., Feb. 16.—The assembly committee on excise and fees announced today that a hearing will be held on a referendum on the liquor question on Wednesday afternoon, February 28. Anticipating that a large number of people will desire to be heard on the subject, the committee has been announced that the hearing will be held in the assembly parlors. The Eyvle bill provides for a referendum on the question of prohibiting the traffic of intoxicating liquor for various purposes, at the time of the session in 1921.

Owing to the death of Assemblyman J. J. Kam, his bills providing for a dry zone around a township that has voted dry and a dry zone around a city that has voted dry, were introduced. The hearing yesterday, shall be heard on next Wednesday.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 13.—Arguments

In which nearly every speaker was a Milwaukeean, were made before the assembly committee on public safety, and before the assembly. Mr. Campbell bill seeking to emasculate the Linley law for the abatement of houses of prostitution. The bill was defended by Attorney General William Campbell and Charles S. Schlewitz of Milwaukee, and opposed by District Attorney Walter H. Bender, for the Milwaukee police, and by Messrs. Arthur J. Schuchman and Thomas Rosa of Portland, Milwaukee social worker.

Mr. Campbell explained his only interest in the bill was to protect innocent citizens from the possible hardship from enforcement of the present law. He stated he himself had once complained to the police department of conditions in the city which he felt were deplorable. His appeal similar scenes were enacted later at the same place.

"Don't you know where the district

Assembleman Schiewitz conceded, however, that "broad-mindedness of the present district attorney," a compliment at which Zabel was observed to wince, But Schiewitz was fearful that some future prosecutor might "possibly be a persecutor. Zabel was not afraid of such a contingency. He said the circuit court must first pass upon any petition for an injunction of a house of prostitution. He said the property holder's best friend.

LIVE ON 35 CENTS A DAY
IN COMMUNITY HOUSES

(Special to THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Feb. 14.—Thirty-five cents a day provides three well-balanced, tempting meals for each of about thirty women students at the University of Wisconsin who are experimenting with economical living. They are not a diet squad, but are enjoying the life of a "down" that begins a week after leaving their regular work in three community houses, planning carefully, and sharing house-keeping work.

Board and room cost each woman about $3.75 a week. Board alone amounts to $2.50 a week, but since two women pay their share by cooking dinners and luncheons, each of the others is paying slightly more than her own share. Room rent amounts to $1.25 a week, plus a few cents more for piano rent and subscriptions to literature.

A typical breakfast menu is: bananas and oranges, breakfast food and cream, hot muffins and butter, with syrup or syrup, and coffee with cream. A typical luncheon is: creamed beef, white and brown bread, butter, pickles, buttered peas, white berry sauce and milk. A typical dinner is: roast beef, mashed potatoes and gravy, creamed carrots, cranberry jelly, bread and butter, ice cream.
